

Discover Mason 2014-2015

A Guide to University Resources

Welcome to George Mason University!

George Mason University reaches far beyond the boundaries of its distributed campus to serve the needs of the commonwealth and the world. A critical part of that global environment is right at our doorstep: the communities of Northern Virginia that fought to establish this institution and have supported George Mason as it has grown and prospered.

This booklet provides a useful guide to all the services and resources available to you at your university.

You are an important member of the Mason community. Please visit the campuses in Arlington, Fairfax, and Prince William counties, or our site in Loudoun County, and make use of these services. We look forward to welcoming you to Mason.

Sincerely,
Traci Claar
Director, Community and Local Government Relations

Mason at a Glance

George Mason University's short history is one of an enterprising and innovative pioneer, creating a major teaching and research university from a small, eight-room schoolhouse in just 50 years. George Mason began as the Northern Virginia branch of the University of Virginia in 1957. In 1972, Mason became an independent member of the commonwealth's system of colleges and universities. Mason is now recognized as an innovative, entrepreneurial institution with global distinction in a range of academic fields, being named the number 1 national up-and-coming university by U.S. News & World Report in 2012.

In fact, the university's key characteristics are defined in the Mason IDEA: innovative, diverse, entrepreneurial, and accessible.

With strong undergraduate and graduate degree programs in engineering and information technology, dance, organizational psychology, and health care, Mason students are routinely recognized with national and international scholarships. Enrollment is more than 33,000, with students studying in 200 degree programs at the bachelor's, master's, doctoral, and professional levels.

Mason professors conduct groundbreaking research in areas such as cancer, climate change, information technology, and the biosciences, and Mason's Center for the Arts and the Hylton Performing Arts Center bring world-renowned artists, musicians, and actors to the area.

Mason has campuses in Fairfax, Arlington, and Prince William counties. In addition, Mason operates a site in Loudoun County and has partnered with the Smithsonian Institution to create the Smithsonian-Mason School of Conservation in Front Royal, Virginia. The university also offers programs online and at the Center for Innovative Technology in Herndon.

Did You Know?

- Mason offers 200 degree programs.
- Mason's student population is more than 33,000, 27,000 of whom are educated at the Fairfax Campus.
- Approximately two-thirds of our total student population are undergraduates, and one-third is graduate level or law school students.
- Eighty-one percent of our students come from Virginia, and 19 percent are from out of state.
- Our students come from 125 countries as well as the United States, forming a global community right on campus.
- Sixty percent of our students attend full time, and 40 percent attend part time.
- More than 6,000 students reside on the Fairfax Campus.
- Mason has more than 150,000 alumni.

EARLY IDENTIFICATION PROGRAM FOR MIDDLE AND HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Phone: 703-993-3120

Web: eip.gmu.edu; Twitter: @masonEIP; Facebook search: EIP

The Early Identification Program (EIP) is a free college preparation program, focusing on students who would be the first in their family to attend college. The program is not open to everyone. Students must be nominated by school personnel in the spring of their seventh grade year and selected to participate as eighth graders. The next nomination period will begin in spring 2015. The program prides itself on educating the whole student, developing students academically, professionally, and personally. Through academic enrichment programs, mentoring, parental involvement, and leadership workshops, students are equipped with the appropriate resources to succeed in college. Students who successfully complete the program and meet specific academic criteria are guaranteed admission to Mason. Several school districts in Northern Virginia, including Fairfax County, Prince William County, Alexandria City, Arlington County, Falls Church City, Manassas City, and Manassas Park City, are in partnership with EIP. The program is held at the Fairfax and Prince William Campuses.
