Delegate David I. Ramadan represents the 87th District of the Virginia House of Delegates and has been a member since 2012.

1) What is the greatest thing about your jurisdiction? The 87th, which includes eastern Loudoun and western Prince William counties, is really at the heart of northern Virginia. With Dulles Airport as a center factor of our growing economy, the district is home to some of the Tech industry’s largest companies and is one of the most conducive environments to new and small start-up businesses. Besides the economics of our district it is truly the people of Loudoun and Prince William that makes us one of the most desirable places to live in the nation.

2) In 20 words or less, what message would you like to share with the George Mason University community? Much of my success today is due to the outstanding education I received while at George Mason University.

3) What was your first job? Retail

4) What do you do when you are not working? I am always working - public service occupies all my time.

5) Do you have Apple or Android? I have an iPhone and iPad always on me.

6) What is the number one thing on your bucket list? I want to learn to fly a helicopter.
