Delegate Eileen R. Filler-Corn represents the 41st District of the Virginia House of Delegates and has been a member since 2010.

1) What would you say makes your jurisdiction great?
The 41st District, located in Fairfax County and comprised of Burke, Fairfax, Fairfax Station and Springfield, is truly a wonderful place to live and raise a family. We are home to four of the top 50-rated High Schools in the Washington D.C. Metro region, and four of the top 300 in the entire country. Along with this educational excellence, our easy access to the nation's capital and the many high-tech employers ensure an active job market for residents, with virtually unlimited career opportunities. We also enjoy an extremely strong sense of community, with unique neighborhoods and developments that provide families a great place in which to live and flourish. In addition, we are particularly proud of our district's diversity, with many different cultures creating a vibrant environment. I have been proud to call the 41st District my home for over 20 years.

2) In 20 words or less, what message would you like to share with the George Mason University community?
Congratulations on all of your tremendous success so far--the future of Mason Nation is bright in the 21st Century.

3) What are three adjectives that best describe you?
Tenacious, Trustworthy, Empathetic

4) What was your first job?
After graduating law school, I was hired by the U.S. Department of Justice in its Attorney General's honors program.

5) Do you have Apple or Android?
Both! Just like my efforts in the legislature I work with both sides of the aisle – I have an iPad and an Android phone.
