1) What would you say makes your jurisdiction great?
Here in the Gainesville District we have a diverse landscape that is matched by our diverse citizenry. From the majesty of Bull Run Mountain to the beauty of our golf course communities, the Gainesville District hosts an impressive array of superb citizens. Although the Gainesville District boasts some great local businesses, it is also a large part of the Rural Crescent. This preserved portion of Prince William County distinguishes itself from the rest of the county not only as a rural area, but also as an area of great natural and historical resources. One of these resources, the Manassas Battlefield, is home to the first major battle of the Civil War. For these reasons, and many more, the Gainesville Magisterial District is a great place to call home.

2) In 20 words or less, what message would you like to share with the George Mason University community?
We are proud of GMU and their work for our local community; we look forward to continuing our partnership.

3) What reading material is currently on your bedside table?
“The Power of Positive Leadership”

4) What are three adjectives that best describe you?
Pro-active, Cheerful, Hardworking

5) What was your first job?
At age 12 I became an entrepreneur and started my own lawn mowing business.

6/20/14